To Capture The Sophomore's Flag.

THREW INJURED MAN INTO LAKE

Upper Classmen Falls To The Ground A Distance Of Twenty-five Feet And Is Given A Bath Despite His Injuries

(Special to The Gazette.)
Madison, Wis., Oct. 7.—More than 600 students thrown into Lake Mendota, two perhaps fatally injured in midair fighting for a class flag and upward of forty other minor casualties sustained are the net results of the annual freshman-sophomore class rush of the University of Wisconsin Friday afternoon.
The sophomore class banner was hung from a telephone pole and a squad of class leaders set to guard it. The efforts of the freshmen were directed to the capture of this trophy. Several of them climbed up guy wires to the cross-arms of the pole, meeting the defenders in midair, and there a fierce battle took place.
On the pole were Sophomores Kent B. North of Cleveland, Ohio; Louis G. Burgess of Phillips, Wis.; Walter G. Caldwell of Pewaukee, Wis.; and Edward S. Malone of Rhinelander.
After fighting for half an hour North, nearly exhausted, was pulled from the place and fell to the ground, a distance of twenty-five feet. He fell on a student below and two ribs were fractured. He was rendered unconscious, but the freshmen, not realizing the extent of his injuries, hustled him to the lake and threw him in. He made no attempt to get out and bystanders rescued him.
Revived by Physicians.
Physicians worked over him for two hours.

GENERAL RANDALL WILL BE RETIRED TOMORROW

Janesville Man's Departure From Army Service Will Result In An Unusual Promotion.

(Special to The Gazette.)
Washington, October 7.—Brigadier-General George M. Randall goes on the retired list tomorrow because of the age limit. Gen. Randall is in command of the northern division of the United States army. It is likely that he will be succeeded by Brigadier-General Frank D. Baldwin, who will serve until next June, then be retired. Gen. Randall's retirement will give President Roosevelt an opportunity to appoint other officers to advanced rank and retire them. It will afford also the occasion for advancing Gen. John P. Weston to be made a major-general. As has been repeated before, however, this promotion, which is unusual because of the strong opposition to placing staff officers in posts of high command, has been determined upon as a reward for years of splendid service rendered to General Weston, who became well known to the President during the campaign in Cuba and who is frequently mentioned in Mr. Roosevelt's book on the Rough Riders.

WILL LIVE IN CALIFORNIA
General Randall visited Janesville recently, being the guest of his sister, Mrs. C. T. McKenney at the old Randall home, 56 Ruger avenue, on Sunday, August 6. He had then just returned from the Philippines, being trans-

(Special to The Gazette.)
London, October 7.—Forty Rhodes scholars arrived here today on route to Oxford for the term there. Eleven have already spent a year at the university and others are going for the first time. This year the students sailed from Philadelphia because of the low rates from that port. When the first batch of students left America last year, each had visions of the "swell" figure he was going to cut on $1,500 a year and engaged rooms on expensive liners. They soon found out, however, that their allowance was very moderate, so this year they formed a party of forty and got cheap rates.

TIE PLAYMATE TO THE CROSS

Children Re-inact Crucifixion And Leave Their Victim Dangling Head Down.

FASTENED BOY TO A ROUGH CROSS

Overcome By Fear When Endeavors To Release Their Comrade Fails They Ran Away And Deserted Him.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Dangling from a cross, literally crucified, for more than an hour and a half before he managed to effect his escape from his fastenings, 5-year-old Eddie Cullinane, son of Desk Sergeant Tim Cullinane of the East Chicago avenue station, recently had an experience that he probably will remember as long as he lives.
Desiring to exemplify the incidents embodied in a religious picture, Marie Pearl; Arthur Pearl, a brother; Arthur Pluckies, 10 years old, and Alice Walker, 12 years old, it is claimed, bound Eddie Cullinane tightly to an improvised cross made of two pieces of wood nailed together at right angles, and after carrying him several times around a lot, left him leaning against a fence frightened by the fact that he was unable to release himself from his fastenings.
The impromptu crucifixion took place about dusk and darkness probably frightened the children away from the lot where they left their victim.
According to the story of Ralph Allyn, 10 years old, Eddie Cullinane was taken by the older members of the crowd and bound to the cross-arm with rope, while his feet were fastened at the base with wire.
Children Have Great Fun.
Little Eddie entered into the sport heartily, and seemed to think the whole affair a huge joke. When he was picked up and carried around he laughed with the rest of them and thought it was fun.
After a while the children grew tired, and stopping near the Northwestern railroad tracks, they propped the cross up against a fence and began teasing the little fellow. This he bore meekly for a long time. Then he began to cry. His arms began to chafe and his hands to ache, while his feet where they were bound hurt until it seemed he could not endure the agony. He called for help, but the noise of the trains passing overhead drowned the sound of his voice.
Victim Releases Himself.
Struggle as he would, the bindings and the cross held him as though he were nailed. One determined effort after another proved fruitless until unexpectedly with a crash the cross with its human burden toppled to the ground, with Eddie lying face upward and trussed like a turtle. Whimpering but in no respect daunted, the little fellow squirmed for three-quarters of an hour until he slipped the fastenings and finally released his feet. Then he managed to stagger home. To his parents the boy told the story of his misfortunes.
Marie Pearl asserts that the whole affair was only a childish prank and that no harm was intended.
Desk Sergeant Cullinane was not inclined to treat the matter seriously in view of the fact that his son received no injury. His wife, who was much concerned over the incident when reported to her, is disposed to now make light of the affair as a childish prank.

And He Is Wounded In The Hand.

(Special to The Gazette.)
New York, Oct. 7.—After thirty-five years of married life, Denton H. Hopkins and his wife, Jessie, aged 53, fought a duel with pistols this morning at the latter's home in Brooklyn. The woman was killed and Hopkins shot in the left hand. The prisoner is in the Brooklyn hospital. The shooting was witnessed by Hopkins' sister, Mrs. Jennie Bruyn, of Walden, N. Y. The couple separated three months ago after a quarrel about the disposition of property held in common amounting to about fifty thousand dollars. The husband appeared at the house this morning and a quarrel followed. Hopkins is 53 years old and a steel engraver by trade. Hopkins had hardly appeared when his wife drew a small revolver from her bosom and fired over Mrs. Bruyn's shoulder. Before she could fire again Hopkins brushed his sister aside, grasped his wife's gun with his bleeding hand and drew a large pistol, firing three times. The first two bullets made the fatal wounds. The third passed over her head as she sank to the floor. The couple have a son, Henry L. Hopkins, a business man.

ferred from the Department of Luzon to the command of the northern division of the United States army, succeeding General Wint. General and Mrs. Randall will now go to California for a future residence, the latter's health having been poor of late years. As a retired major general he will draw a salary from the government of $5,625 a year, the salary for active service being $7,500.

SKETCH OF HIS CAREER

George M. Randall was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, October 8, 1841, and moved with his parents to Morristown, Pennsylvania, in early manhood. In 1861 his father, Brewster Randall, and family came to Janesville to reside and on the 20th of April of the same year George M. Randall enlisted as a private in Company A, 4th Pennsylvania Infantry. He was made second lieutenant of the Fourth Infantry on October 21, 1861, and was promoted to first lieutenant on the 6th of November, a year later. One or two detached assessors have thus far failed to turn in the crop reports for their townships. Otherwise the complete tabulations might have been in readiness some time ago. Rock county's total population according to the census that has just been taken is 53,657, a gain of 2,454 over the showing of 1900. The greater portion of this gain was made in the city of Beloit, which increased in five years from 10,438 to 12,863. Edgerton's increase was 221 and Evansville bettered itself by 97. Some of the towns such as Fulton, Lima, Magnolia, and Newark show a falling off.

Wireless Telegraphy in Germany.
Consul Ernest L. Harris reports from Chemnitz that it is contemplated by the German government to use wireless telegraphy to prevent accidents in the Empire, he says, will probably lead to the general introduction and use of wireless telegraphy on all the State railways. It will be remembered that two years ago exhaustive practical experiments were conducted and continued until recently on the military railway leading from Berlin to Sossenheim. The telegraph stations on the route were each fitted up with a transmitter and receiver, while the trains were equipped with the same apparatus, and the ordinary telegraph wires along the track were used to facilitate the work.
The experiments proved conclusively, says Consul Harris, that the different stations could at any time communicate with a train running at full speed and warn it of impending danger. The use of wireless telegraphy in this connection would especially safeguard trains on one track railways from danger. It is not expected that the expense of supplying stations and passenger trains with the necessary apparatus will be much beyond the budget allowed each year for the purpose of repairing old signals and introducing new appliances and inventions which have for their aim the protection of life and limb in railway travel.

RETURN FROM THE BAPTIST MEETING

Rev. R. M. Vaughan And Judge Dunwiddie Were Important Factors In Convention.

Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Vaughan and Judge B. P. Dunwiddie returned last evening from Appleton, where they attended the fifty-first state convention of the Baptist church. Rev.
Vaughan delivered a sermon on "The Place of the Sunday School in the Modern Church" on Wednesday evening.
Rev. Catchpole of this city was also in attendance at the session. As vice president, Judge Dunwiddie presided at all of the meetings in the absence of the president. Some interesting statistics were brought out in the report of Secretary D. W. Hardurt of Watertown, showing among other things that there are now 25 Baptist churches in Wisconsin and that there have been added to the membership during the year 877 by baptism, 555 by letter, and 158 otherwise, making a total gain of 1,590; while the diminution amounted to 1,357, leaving a net gain of 373. Two new churches had been added, one at Bunyon and the other at Waldo. The enrollment at Watertown academy, the Baptist school, was 199 last year.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Few People Know How Useful It Is In Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purposes.
Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.
Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.
Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.
It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels;
it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of caruath.
All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges;
they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless ingredients in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath, and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from the continued use of them, but one the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

ROOSEVELT WILL WANT REVISIONS

HIS ANNUAL MESSAGE IS NOW SKETCHED OUT.

INSURANCE INVESTIGATIONS

Cause Displeasure In Wall Street Because Great Houses Are Receiving Bad Reputations.

(By William Wolff Smith.)
(Special Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C.—Now that President Roosevelt is back and in harness the "standpatters" will probably hear something to their disadvantage.
This applies equally to the "stand-patters" on the tariff and the "stand-patters" on railroad legislation. The President will not settle down to the work of the winter until after his Southern trip but in the meantime he will have opportunity to consult with the leading men of his party and ascertain what chance there is that Congress will act on the recommendations in his annual message, now fairly sketched out. That Congress will revise the tariff at the coming session is scarcely possible and, of course, revision at the short session is almost out of the question. Consequently those opposed to tariff revision have the upper hand for the present. The railroads and their friends are not so well situated, however. The feeling that there must be legislation to meet the more glaring evils of discriminations and rebates is as intense today as it was last winter.
Notwithstanding the "campaign of education" carried on so assiduously throughout the summer, the common people see in the consolidation of railroads, the extension of lines and the millions spent in terminals and new trackage, accompanied by vast issues of securities, that the already enormous power wielded by the railroads is increasing rapidly. That power, political as well as financial, is being concentrated in the hands of a very limited number of men, masters of great railroad systems and, presaging the future on the experience of the past, if powerful railroads here and there can control the politics of a state it is reasonable to assume that a combination of those and other roads can dominate the national legislature.

That the future of the Republican party is more deeply involved in these questions than is apparent to the casual observer, is the opinion of unbiased students of political economies. America owes much to the Republican party; like most great leaders of thought it has committed grave errors and not a few follies, but these have been redeemed and clipped by great services. Its policies of a protective tariff and a gold standard are almost universally approved, and, like the Roman Empire, the existence of the Republican party is threatened by its prolonged supren-dacy, its bulk and the advantage taken of it by those who have accumulated enormous fortunes which they seek to increase. It is true the tariff on steel rails added greatly to the country with highly profitable iron mills; providing employment for hundreds of thousands, it gave us the Carnegie fortune and the Billion Dollar Steel Trust. In these days we are selling steel rails abroad cheaper than in this country, and the still enormous profits go to pay dividends on stock intrinsically worth little more than the paper it is printed on. It may sound like a rash statement but it is pretty near true, that the common stock of the steel trust represents the tariff percentage in its favor, just as the bonds represent the cash value of the plants and the preferred stock the organization, facilities and possibilities. The same is true of other combinations, the Beef trust, for instance, reaping millions from the tariff on hides at the expense of the consumer of leather.

Sooner or later this country will be compelled to face the problem of whether affairs are to be conducted for the benefit of the few to the advantage of enormous fortunes may be piled up, or whether legislation must be directed toward the great mass of good for the great I. Hill, the forty or fifty millions he has made while making the western desert bloom, or the benefit which Messrs. Morgan and Spencer may receive from the rejuvenated Southern railroad, but there are serious objections to Messrs. Hill and Morgan combining their interests to double or quadruple their fortunes by eliminating competition and at the expense of the people at large. This applies with greater force to those gamblers whose predatory operations in the stock market have nothing to distinguish them morally from their wagers on horse racing and their playing cards, faro and roulette, of which we hear so much.

The question to which the Republican leaders would do well to devote their attention is whether the "standpatter" policy which sacrifices the interests of the many for the few, will not eventually break the back of the party. Corporations make large campaign contributions but the people have the votes and "a stitch in time saves nine" is a homely saying but a true one.

While in New York yesterday I visited the financial district to ascertain if possible what effect the testimony brought out by the Armstrong commission pursuing the life insurance inquiry, was having on the prospects of the companies involved, and life insurance in general. The further I pursued my inquiries the more I was struck with the force of the proposition that Wall Street regards the tendency of the counsel for the committee, Mr. Hughes, to probe into the dealings between the insurance companies and bond dealers, with great displeasure, not because there is anything to conceal, but because the manner in which the questions are put and the publicity given the inquiry is likely to create the impression that great houses such as J. P.
Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and others have been engaged in disreputable practices with the insurance

FALL FESTIVAL AND CARNIVAL NEXT WEEK

Milton Junction Will Be In Gala Attire And The God of Mirth And Fun Will Reign.

A Grand Fall Festival and Carnival will be held at Milton Junction for four days, commencing next Wednesday, October 11th, and continuing until Saturday. All former events will be eclipsed, in fact there has never been attempted before a like entertainment. Each day will be full of pleasure and excitement and a grand balloon ascension will take place daily. The committee on arrangements have secured numerous free attractions, and one of the features will be a ball game each day.
Bands from neighboring towns are being engaged and on one day a prize tournament will be held with funds for the winners. No effort has been spared to make this a memorable occurrence and the citizens of Milton Junction and their committees are to be congratulated on their enterprise.
Four days of solid fun and recreation await those who journey to Milton Junction next week.

Furlough Lengthened: Carl Yates,
son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Yates, who has been home on a furlough from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, left a few days ago for Buffalo, where he expected to spend the remaining days of his vacation. After he arrived there he expected a telegram extending the furlough one week on account of the diphtheria epidemic at the institution and recently there has come another message, extending it another week. This, however, has not been delivered to him, as he left Buffalo without leaving word as to where his address would be before he reached Annapolis.

NEW SCIENTIFIC PROCESS

A Preparation Discovered That Will Destroy the Dandruff Germ.

For some time it has been known that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp into little white lakes, and by sapping the vitality of the hair at the root, causes falling hair, and, of course, finally baldness. For years there have been all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Newbro's Herpicide, which destroys the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause, the effect will "cease to exist. Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp, no falling hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

THE BIRTH

of the Genuine Round Oak thirty-four years ago marked the change in heating of stoves from crudity to perfection. No other stove will burn all kinds of fuel with economy, success and satisfaction to the user.

In using coal, for instance, it has a double fire pot with concentric grate, which prevents the formation of clinkers and gives the hottest fire around the outside of the fire pot, instead of in the center.

It has a hot blast, used for soft coal only.

The air is taken in at the feed door, carried around the top of the fire pot and discharged on top of fire through a series of openings. This burns the soot and gases, and makes the steady, white, thus a steady, even fire can be maintained with the hot blast alone, burning coal from the top downward.

Then, for hard coal with or without magazine, and coke or wood, it is equally successful.

You simply cannot afford to pass the ROUND OAK by, if you need a heating stove.

Always look for the name "ROUND OAK" on the leg. There are hundreds of imitations.

"Yes, Fritz, you guessed it. That is the Round Oak Office Building. Tomorrow we will see the shops where the Round Oaks are made."

H. L. McNAMARA

= FORTY YEARS AGO =

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, October 7, 1865.—New Round House.—The new roundhouse of the Milwaukee and Prairie du Chien road is approaching completion. It is a beautiful structure of Milwaukee brick and will accommodate five engines. It is an ornament to the place and a credit to the company building it.

Telegraphing.—The Chicago Tribune contains the following handsome and well deserved compliments to the skill and ability of Mr. Stone, the telegraph operator in this city:

Our report of the Wisconsin Radical Convention was, we believe, the longest one ever brought to this city over a single wire as a special dispatch to newspaper. The convention was held in the evening, the speeches and resolutions were reported, telegraphed and delivered to us in a dispatch of ten thousand six hundred words at two o'clock Thursday morning. At four o'clock the matter was on the press, and at half past four was on the early trains leaving the city. As her beautiful life.

few errors occurred in the report of Senator Howe's speech, but as a whole we think it challenges comparison, as a feat of telegraphing and newspaper enterprise, with the best efforts of the American press.

Death of Mrs. E. Stella Anderson.—It is with unfeigned sorrow that we announce the death, this morning, of Mrs. E. Stella Anderson after an illness of about three weeks. At the age of 41 years. For a number of years she has been the principal of the young ladies' school in this city, which has justly enjoyed an excellent reputation and looking forward to more extended usefulness in this direction. She was a woman of rare attainments and virtues, and was greatly beloved by those who enjoyed the pleasure of her acquaintance, and especially did she gain the loving and lasting affection of her pupils. To her family her death is an irreparable loss, and the community have few such to mourn. May her dreamless sleep be as sweet as the life she lived.

..COMING ATTRACTIONS..

ACTOR AUTHOR'S TROUBLES

Arrested in a Pool Room When Getting Material for Real Live Scene. "His Last Dollar" is the joint work of David Higgins and Dr. Baldwin C. Cooke. Dr. Cooke is a very busy practicing physician in New York and the major part of the joint work of the doctor and actor was done on Sunday. In the original form of the play there was a scene showing a poolroom for the sale of racing pools, and the authors desired to secure local color.

Despite their protests and attempted explanation Mr. Higgins and his worthy collaborator were hauled into a "hurry up" wagon and later were arraigned before Magistrate Night. "What have you got to say for yourself," inquired the justice of Mr. Higgins, when the very much upset actor-author was thrust before the bar by a not over-polite policeman. "Why," said Mr. Higgins, "we were not there to gamble, your honor, but I was taking a few notes, which next Sunday the doctor"—and here he was inter-

ELEENOR MONTGOMERY, WITH DAVID HIGGINS IN "HIS LAST DOLLAR". Now it is very much against the law to conduct a poolroom in New York at the present day, although in the early 30s, during which the action of the play occurs, things were wide open in the metropolis. "But law or no law," said Higgins, "we've got to get the stuff for this scene," so the doctor and Higgins visited a poolroom. Higgins was busy with a notebook, which he was filling with good material, when down came the police.

FASHION NOTES

DETAILS AND TRIMMINGS The little linen accessories which added so much to the chic of summer costumes are more indispensable than ever. Some of the tailored suits have revers and collars made of heavier lace, with an increased cost, but elegance at such a price is not really necessary, when simpler designs are just as effective.

Separate blouses and bodices have the most delectable trimmings of lace embroidery and the entire decorative scheme of the designs centers about the yoke, or a very little below. Frequently the elegance of the trimming is enhanced by tucks and plaits, especially when shirring is not available.

The successor to the lovely little blouses made entirely of lace ruffles seems to be the ruffles yoke. That the lower frills should be omitted may be only a temporary change necessitated by the constant buttoning and unbuttoning of coats over the blouse, for these waists were so dainty and chic that it hardly seems possible to have them disappear so soon.

For all of the little belongings of dress Valenciennes and the soft thread laces seem to be most in demand. They are light and airy in effect, not necessarily expensive, are well adapted to all of the fashionable forms of trimming and combine effectively with all the reigning fabrics. Very fine net is also used for the purpose and the daintiest cuts and revers, with collar to match are shown in this openwork material embroidered with delicate threads and edged with lace. The sets make a handsome and refined trimming for shirt waists that are originally plain. Like all of the detachable trimmings they can be shifted from one blouse to the other, giving variety to the wardrobe.

Pure white lace combined with gold threads and gold lace takes a leading place among the very elegant trimmings of the season. An example of this idea was noted in a handsome costume of dark brown goods, rather wiry, yet pliable enough to fall gracefully under many successive rows of cable-shirring. The bodice of the gown had a high ruche and deep yoke of white St. Gall lace, outlining which was quite a wide band of gold lace, which fell over the shoulders upon the puffs of the sleeves in rich effect. The sleeves were rather small, elaborate affairs of the brown material, which had all the lustre of lustrine or liberty satin. The lower part of the bodice was gathered in tightly at the waistline into a perfectly round giraffe of brown panne velvet.

A rather striking afternoon frock in pale grey taffeta is handsomely trimmed with white lace combined with silver embroidery. It is made in princess effect, several rows of shirring above the waistline forcing up the fullness of the bodice at the proper point for it to blouse over in graceful effect. Below the waist the skirt is trimmed with several rows of shirring. The neck is finished simply with an applique of the embroidered lace applique, but is not cut low. The trimming extends over the shoulders to the sleeves, which are elbow length. They are met by fitted cuffs of laced grey net gathered into a wristband of lace applique over grey chiffon.

Speaking of princess gowns reminds one of some of the elegant designs shown in lace, renaissance and all the handsome braids being used. Grey, cream and white are the favorite tints for all-over lace gowns, and, of course, black, which is always de rigueur.

As the season advances one finds tailored gowns made more upon fanciful models, leaving the coats for more general wear. The dressy effects in these models, however, usually have shirred sleeves or some trimming to give a distinctive touch. The long coats are serviceable and with plaid skirts, make elegant traveling costumes. In fact many smart dresses who have not reconciled themselves to this particular fashion for other purposes, make them up very effectively for short trips to and from the country for the house parties and other gaieties, now the fad of social leaders.

STARTED CRUSADE AGAINST RAFFLES

Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin Has Become The Advocate of Those Who Would Prohibit Them.

Various city papers over the state have taken up the raffle controversy in saloons and other resorts. It seems that a general crusade against this business is being conducted over the state and it would appear Janesville is not to be missed. These raffles are common about Thanksgiving and Christmas time, when chances are sold on turkeys and geese. One city official had the following to say on the question: "Yes, there are raffles in Janesville and they take place about Thanksgiving time and Christmas. I know that there is a feeling against such a thing." When asked how many birds were raffled off he said that "I would estimate the number at twenty-five." The Evening Wisconsin of Milwaukee has the following to say on the question: "As a game of chance the raffle falls under the ban of the federal law which broke up the business of the Louisiana lottery. That law makes publications advertising games of chance inadmissible to the mails. If a newspaper were to announce the winning numbers at a saloon poultry raffle the edition containing the publication would be liable to rejection at the postoffice. But while the gambling character of the poultry raffle is a bad thing, it is not the only bad thing. The raffle attracts into the saloons a class of workmen who as a rule take most of their money home to their families. It leads in many instances to drinking, treating, spreeing and general demoralization."

PUBLIC MORALS AND THE TAINTED DOLLAR

Are Among The Subjects To Be Discussed By Twilight Club—Has Janesville A Lid?

On Tuesday evening next the Twilight Club will open its tenth year with a banquet and discussion of the question: "Why has Janesville not grown more than six hundred in the last six years?" I. F. Wortendyke will lead and the five sub-topics will be: "The Census," "Railway Discrimination," "Taxation," "Liquor on or off," and "The Janesville Advancement Association." The committee of arrangements consisting of Rev. R. C. Denison, Frank Jackson, George Sutherland, W. S. Jeffris, and Judge Charles L. Fife will suggest the following topics for discussion at the succeeding meetings:

November—Investments, wise and unwise.
December—All are expected to tell a story, sing a song, or do a stunt.
January—How can public morals in Janesville be best improved?
February—Tainted Money.
March—Science Night.
April—Ladies' Night.

Alderman's Little Joke: J. E. Kennedy returned from South Dakota today with blood in his eye. He was looking for Alderman Murray. Last Tuesday night, knowing that he was about to depart on a certain train with a party of friends, the alderman called Officer Brigham to one side, described Kennedy, and told the patrolman to seize him at the depot as he had $20 of his (Murray's) money in his possession. This was of course a pure fabrication but the officer went directly to the depot and laid for Kennedy. In some manner the latter got wind of what was about to transpire and decided that rather than be compelled to miss his train while making explanations at the police office he would catch it some distance down the track. He had no relish for catching on while the cars were moving but did it at the risk of breaking his neck. Only a few weeks before the alderman caused Kennedy to get up early in the morning and flee from the haunts of men, on the supposition that he was wanted for jury service. No wonder the latter is plotting a terrible vengeance.

GAME WARDENS BUSY WITH THE HUNTERS

Headquarters At Madison Are Rushed With Work Before Them—Many Outsiders.

The office force of the state fish and game warden at Madison, is experiencing a particularly busy season at present with the furnishing of county clerks all over the state with hunting licenses, application blanks and copies of the game laws. With the deer season opening, the warden's office is flooded with applications for licenses to non-residents to hunt in Wisconsin for small game and deer, and with directing the local deputies in the enforcement of the laws and prosecution of law violators. Deputies are reporting that violations are perhaps less this year than formerly, for it seems that the game laws are in better repute among hunters, who assist the warden in enforcing them rather than treat the warden as an enemy. There have been issued to date 241 non-resident licenses for small game, permitting the hunting of the game birds and the catching of the game fish as carried by the resident licenses, except for deer. This number is just the same as that issued this time last year. There have been issued 22 deer licenses to non-residents, costing the holders $25 each. This is a little ahead of last year at this time. The rush for deer licenses will come the last part of this month and the first two or three weeks of November.

TWENTY MULES WALK DOWN THE STREETS

Like Veterans Unmindful Of The Curiosity Of The Crowds Watch Them.

With "Borax Bill" on the pole-mule the great twenty-mule team direct from Death Valley, California, via the state and county fairs and the St. Louis exposition arrived in the city shortly after one o'clock today from Edgerton and Milton. It was a sight to see the twenty long-eared specimens of muledom march sedately down the street hauling the two big borax wagons with the little "water-wagon" behind; one hundred and seventy-five feet from the tip of the first mule's ear to the end of the last water-wagon. "Borax Bill" sat on his queer steed and directed the whole equipage by his voice. He made no more noise than does the average man driving a team and far less than the average woman. The mules seemed to understand the merest hint that his voice implied and turned almost impossible corners in the easiest manner possible. "Borax Bill" says he can cut the figure eight with his team much easier than can the Spring Brook boy who lives on his skates after winter begins. The mule train started from Edgerton this morning at the rate of three miles an hour. They had a good dinner at the Farmers' Rest and later appeared on the streets, where their driver caused them to perform all sorts of wonderful evolutions. The team and wagons are an object lesson of the way in which the great Death Valley of California is traversed by these borax teams. The mules themselves are good sleek-looking fellows who flop their ears in a truly intelligent manner. They know the sound of their driver's voice and mind it just as much as though they were driven by team. The outfit is what is known as a jerk-line outfit, but only a few of the mules are really driven by the jerk-line.

AN ENDORSEMENT

Editor Gazette: I notice that a complaint was entered at the council meeting Monday evening against the repair of streets with macadam, when simple repairs were ordered. This was a wise move as the property owners who have been assessed for permanent street improvements should not be taxed for those not contingent to their property. These same property owners who have paid for permanent street improvement should enter such a strong kick right now that could not help but rattle the dry bones of those responsible for the present condition of the streets. Those streets that have been macadamized are in many cases in most horrible shape; those who ride much in a vehicle of any sort will bear me out in this I think. Take east Milwaukee street for instance, if you want to bump the bumps without charge ride from East street west on the north side of the car tracks to the brick paving. North Jackson street between Wall and the railroad tracks is another fine bit of street—lumps and bumps left from sewer digging have been in evidence all summer. South Third street, Division up the hill and south Second is breaking up. South Main street on the east side of the tracks will jar your teeth loose, and these are only a few. It seems to me that a small amount of work and expense is all that is necessary to keep these otherwise good streets in repair. Another point while I am at it is the crosswalks about the city. Hardly a crossing anywhere but that is from 2 to 6 inches above the street level, so high in fact that unless one has firm hold in riding over them they are liable to bodily injury. Is it necessary to build them so that one's spine is in danger when riding over them? I believe in the cities there are very few crossings above the level of the street and with one efficient corps of street cleaners the objection to low crossings should be obliterated. Are not the rights of those who ride as important as any other citizen or taxpayer? Why not build crosswalks in future near the street level and why not give us some simple street repairs right now? Why not compel those who dig up macadam streets to repair them just as they found them? Whose business is it to see that this is done? I don't remember how that piece of work on Magnolia Ave. west toward the golf grounds was made out. I don't think it cost the money some of our downtown streets did and it is certainly today without any repairs practically the best bit of road in the city. Drive around the city and you will soon be ready to join a street improvement club.

YOURS FOR BETTER STREETS.

GAMES IN WEST ARE ALL FOR PRACTICE

First Big Fight Of Football Season On In New Haven Between Yale And Syracuse.

Football games east and west today are largely for practice, while the first big "fight" of the season is taking place at New Haven between Yale and Syracuse, in which the former should win. Wisconsin is playing Lawrence at Madison and the quality of the game, though victory is conceded the state institution, should demonstrate the strength of the Wisconsin line. Washab college's showing against Chicago last week makes their game with Northwestern probably very close. The contest between Michigan and Case Scientific at Ann Arbor is simply a matter of score, while Minnesota should pile up sixty points at the least against North Dakota in their game at Minneapolis. The close score with which Illinois triumphed over Knox last Saturday does not make the prospect bright for an overwhelming victory for the suckers over Northwestern of Naperville at Urbana. The size of score made by Chicago against Iowa at Marshall Field will tell whether the Midway university is really weak or if last week's game was an unlucky exhibition. Beloit college is lined up against Whitewater Normal in the line city today and though the former has not the strength it has had should win with ease. For the first time this year Pennsylvania has the entire team in line and it is against Swarthmore at Philadelphia. This Swarthmore a victory for the former. Harvard is playing Maine at Cambridge and at Princeton Georgetown is lined up against Princeton.

AN EPIDEMIC OF PINK EYE IN THE NEWVILLE SCHOOL

Newville, October 7.—Pink eye, which has been prevalent through our school, has about run out and the afflicted ones are very much better.

Harry Arnold has been drawing stone from George Richardson's quarry for his new house on the river road. It is surmised that he will not occupy it alone.

Fred Wilbur and Paul Colvin were fishermen at Riverside Thursday. They report a good catch.

There was a gathering of old friends and neighbors at the home of Mrs. Emergence Stone on October 3 in honor of Mr. William Kemphill of Chicago. Those present were Mr. Joseph Carr, Mr. W. B. Maxson, Mr. and Mrs. James Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Benton Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. John Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCulloch, Mrs. Bolser, Mr. Frank Blake and the three Misses Merreyfields. A two-course dinner was served and after many remembrances of old times the guests departed wishing many returns of the happy event.

Beet digging has commenced and by next week will see many tons on their way to the factory. The yield this season has been good considering the late rains at planting time.

Dry and dusty is the order of the day with prayers for rain.

William Affeldt is making extensive repairs to his house.

The official census figures of Appleton and Outagamie counties show the city has 17,000 and the county 40,000 people.

companies. Men like Jacob H. Schiff and George W. Perkins, it is claimed, were invited to become directors of the insurance companies, not for their personal benefit, but because in this capacity their intimate knowledge of financial conditions and the opportunity afforded them through their connections with the great banking houses, to correctly judge the value of an investment, would be of service to the company and to its policy holders.

Instead of any of the banking houses so far mentioned, undertaking to force their securities on the life insurance companies the shoe has apparently been on the other foot. Confined almost exclusively to investment in bonds and mortgages the insurance companies sought expert advice from bondholders just as they employed the most active and most capable solicitors and to that end solicited such men as Mr. Schiff to act as directors. For similar reasons the value of the services of Mr. Perkins to the New York Life greatly increased when he became associated with the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

The testimony has shown that in no case has an insurance company purchased from a banking house where such connections existed, more than a fraction of the securities marketed by such houses. Mr. Schiff, for instance, was a director in the Equitable, but of the $1,300,000,000 of securities sold by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the Equitable purchased only $25,000,000 while the New York Life took $21,000,000 and the Mutual $42,000,000. If the two latter companies thought the securities of sufficient value to warrant such a heavy investment in bonds, the Equitable is to be blamed merely because Mr. Schiff was a director in the company does not appear.

The same is true of the New York Life and J. P. Morgan & Co., where George W. Perkins was vice-president of one and a partner in the other.

Only about three per cent of the bonds handled by J. P. Morgan & Co. found their way to the coffers of the New York Life. No one questions the value of these securities or that they were obtained at the lowest possible rate and considering that the New York Life was compelled to invest largely in bonds, the fact that notwithstanding its vice-presidency it only acquired three per cent of the issues handled, indicates unusual caution if anything. In addition it profited by Mr. Perkins turning over to it his share of the commissions.

Wall street is discussing these phases of the question and seriously questioning the advisability of the committee pursuing a line of inquiry calculated to bring obloquy on the great banking houses and to cover with reproach the names of men whose services have been of such undoubted value to the companies and their policy holders. If every transaction between two concerns, between a bank and a house and an insurance company, between an insurance company and a trust company, is to be the subject of inquiry and unpleasant comment, the difficulty of obtaining men like Schiff or Perkins to act as directors is obvious. If Mr. Schiff had understood, so he says, that his acceptance of a directorship in the Equitable would have prevented his firm from selling bonds to the company, he would have declined the honor. This applies to every other banker for his business is to sell bonds and philanthropy does not extend so far that they would deliberately eliminate a possible customer by serving gratuitously on a directorate. Therefore, if the motives of men whose names have hitherto been synonymous with integrity and whose word is taken daily for millions, are to be questioned and their reputations tarnished because of their connections with insurance companies, the impression prevails in Wall street, that they will sever their relations with the insurance companies and hereafter such directorates will be confined to men without the connections and lacking the experience which has been so valuable to the companies in the case of the men in question.

The harm done to the big bond houses by the methods employed by Mr. Hughes cannot be estimated and there is a feeling that if the inquiry proceeds along these lines every banking house that ever sold bonds to a life insurance company, together with all persons connected with the transaction will become unpleasantly involved. So far it has been shown that these transactions almost invariably profited the companies; always so where the larger houses were concerned. That the bond sellers made money is not denied any more than that an insurance solicitor makes money by writing insurance. One seeks business and the other supplies an investment.

To date the inquiry is regarded as being quite as detrimental to the interests of the policy holders as to those of the banking houses for if the investments of the companies are to be made in the open market instead of through underwriting syndicates, higher prices will be paid for the bonds out of the policy holders' money.

Although a city administration is to be elected in New York in two months very little interest is displayed. The feeling is universal that Mayor McClellan will be re-elected overwhelmingly and all that remains is for Tammany to select his associates. New Yorkers also consider Mr. Termon's election a certainty. Consequently they feel there is no reason to get excited. McClellan has a host of friends in this city where he served as a member of Congress for several terms and we expect to see him receive higher political honors.

It is admitted on all sides that Mr. McClellan has given New York a clean and able administration of the kind best suited to such a city. Liberality combined with firmness has characterized the present administration which is what New York wants. As long as Tammany keeps away from petty graft, derived from brothels and saloons, the people are content that the leaders shall make a fair thing through partnerships in contracting concerns, and Murphy is wise enough to appreciate the fact that New Yorkers will cheerfully stand for what is known as "honest graft." The situation is aptly illustrated in the song "Tammany," sung by De Angelis in Pantana. This production has just closed a New York run of about four hundred nights and the Tammany song, descriptive of the route of the "reformers" and the satisfaction of Father Knickerbocker with Tammany rule was the most popular song in the show. It happened to be there the closing night and the scores prolonged the performance ten minutes. Doubtless the effect on the audiences at 400 performances has been very advantageous to Tammany Hall and the Shuberts may profit thereby.

Representative Thomas, of North Carolina, who is here doing chores, says he is greatly interested in pushing such amendments to the proposed railway rate legislation as will place the refrigerator car, and companies and the private car line, under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"I am also interested," he continued, "in obtaining such reciprocal agreements with foreign countries as will expand our trade and give us new and wider markets, especially for Southern products, such as cotton seed oil. If the 'stand-pat' Republicans are in control and there can be no legislation looking to tariff revision, certainly something can be done in the way of reciprocity with other countries, in view of the retaliatory measures adopted by France, Germany and other European nations."

"I would like to see some amendment of the immigration laws which will effectively exclude such European labor as competes with American labor. More than one million Poles, Hungarians and Russians were immigrants to this country within the past year. We need a good class of immigrants to meet the labor situation in the South, but the lower order of European labor we do not need, and it should be excluded."

PEACEFUL PICKETING ABSURD

Appellate Court Judge Decides Against Union and Fines Members.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7.—Peaceful picketing is as impossible as gentlemanly vulgarity or lawful lynching, according to an opinion handed down by Justice Smith in the appellate court.

The case which called for the decision is that of Franklin union, No. 4, three of whose members were fined $100 each and sentenced to thirty days' imprisonment by Judge Holcomb for contempt of court nearly two years ago. At the same time Judge Holcomb fined the union itself, which was an incorporated body, $1,000, and this decision also affirmed by the appellate court.

"It is idle to talk of picketing for lawful persuasive purposes," said Judge Smith. "Men do not form picket lines for the purpose of lawful persuasion and of conversation."

"Courts should be practical. When they form an opinion from evidence it must be a practical one. They have no opportunity, no license, for star gazing or for indulging in poetic fancy. In imagination and in theory a peaceful picket line may be possible, but in fact, a picket line is never peaceful."

THE TWO KINDS OF GRATES ARE DIRECT DRAFT and RETURN DRAFT.

The ALDINE is the only RETURN DRAFT GRATE on the market.
ALL OTHERS ARE DIRECT DRAFT.

You would smile if any one said to you "You get as much benefit from your fuel by using an old-fashioned stove as the modern base burner." In using direct draft grates over 50 per cent of your heat produced goes up your chimney.

In using Aldine Grates you save at least 80 per cent of this lost heat, and do it with less than 40 per cent of the fuel. Aldine Grates are more than four times as economical as any other open fire-place or grate.

Mr. W. H. Underwood, of Dexter, N. Y., Nov. 1, 1904, says: "The Aldine is now giving, and always has since installed, given perfect satisfaction." Mr. J. N. Booth, Logansport, Ind., Oct. 20, 1904, says: "The Aldine Grate does all you claim for it; it would not burn with it for any money, if I could not get another."

H. F. Craig, Contractor, Marinette, Wis., Oct. 22, 1904, says: "I have got two of your Aldine and one of your N. K. Grates in this city, and all are giving entire satisfaction. I consider the Aldine the most practical grate in every way I have seen."

We also manufacture the best and most complete line of FIREPLACE GOODS and WOOD MANTELS on the market; and the ONLY ODOORLESS GAS GRATES.

DEAFNESS CURABLE.
Strange Medicine, New to Science, Works Wonders For Milwaukee Man Who Was Deaf For Eight Years.

Mr. E. C. Matterson, of 158 Thirty-Sixth street, Milwaukee, Wis., tells a remarkable story of the new medical wonder which, owing to the marvelous cures it is and has been effecting, has been the subject of so much local gossip.

Mr. Matterson has for the past eight years been troubled with deafness and a disagreeable roaring sound in his head that has been the source of much annoyance. He tried various remedies but none seemed to relieve him.

When the famous philanthropist, Mr. L. T. Cooper, visited Milwaukee and performed so many cures with his medical discoveries, Mr. Matterson heard of it and resolved to try the new medicines. It was then that he found what eight years searching had failed to reveal, a cure for his affliction.

Regarding his experience Mr. Matterson said: "I had used these wonderful medicines just one week when I noticed a great improvement. I could hear much better; the roaring stopped and my general health was improved."

Cooper's New Discovery, which cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Deafness, Kidney and Stomach Trouble, Blood Diseases and Paralysis, sells for one dollar per bottle, while Cooper's Quick Relief, the assistant remedy, costs fifty cents.

The medicines can be secured in Janesville only of E. B. Heimstreet, who acts as Mr. Cooper's special representative.

FOR BULLETIN FROM WISCONSIN
COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE.

ABOUT BREEDING OF HORSES

Alexander Galbraith And James Z.
McLay The Contributors—Great Possibilities of Industry.

The possibilities of horse-breeding in Wisconsin and the means of securing the best results in this important industry, form the subject of an important bulletin prepared by Professor A. S. Alexander, head of the recently established department of horse-breeding of the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture. The bulletin, which is designed for general distribution to farmers and stock raisers of the state, contains in concise form the principles and the practice of horse-breeding together with the laws of the state regarding horse-breeding, a list of American and foreign stud books, and some sixty illustrations of horses of various breeds. In addition to the general discussion of the subject by Dr. Alexander the bulletin includes a series of shorter articles by men who are prominently identified with the horse-raising interests in the state. Among these articles are the following: J. G. Boyd, Milwaukee, "Horses for City Teams"; H. A. Briggs, Elkhorst, "Draft Horse Breeding"; Alexander Galbraith, Janesville, "Fitting Horses for Show" and "Care and Feeding of Draft Stallions"; A. R. Ives, Delavan, "Breeding Cattle Horses"; President George McKerron of the State Board of Agriculture, "The General Purpose Horse"; James Z. McLay, Janesville, "Feeding Farm Work Horses"; R. B. Ogilvie, Morrisville, "Developing Draft Foals"; and F. C. Warren, Valley Junction, "Management and Care of Stallions."

Favorable Conditions in Wisconsin

Conditions are so favorable for raising active, sound, and hardy horses in this state, the bulletin points out, that Wisconsin farmers and breeders should engage in the horse-breeding industry with enterprise and intelligence. The soils are rich in mineral matter and the drinking water is also strongly impregnated with these substances. Feeding materials are everywhere grown in abundance, and, being rich in protein and earthy substances, are especially well fitted for developing horses of perfect frame. It is always possible to supply horses with nutritious food from never failing stores of clover, grasses, and corn. Pastures are kept green by sufficient moisture and in addition to oats, wheat, barley, and rye, peas and other legumes luxuriate, while ample corn is grown to augment these rations with heat and fat-producing elements during our cold, bright, healthy, bracing winters. The large flouring mills at St. Paul, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, and Chicago make it possible to secure the by-products used for feeding horses readily and economically. It is evident, therefore, that the general conditions in Wisconsin are eminently adapted for breeding and rearing horses of the highest type and quality.

Demand for Wisconsin Horses

During recent years an appreciable demand has sprung up for Wisconsin young draft stock of strong frame and robust, hardy constitution to be finished or fattened in eastern or corn belt states. As this demand promises to last and increase, Dr. Alexander believes that Wisconsin farmers and breeders will find it an especially remunerative business to furnish buyers from Ohio, Pennsylvania, and other states with two and three-year-old draft horses. Since it is difficult to finish and fatten draft horses as cheaply and easily as can be done where corn is more abundant and cheaper, Wisconsin breeders can more profitably produce young draft and carriage horses of ideal quality and development for finishing and fattening elsewhere. That proximity to Chicago, the largest horse market in the world, and railroad connections with all the other selling centers are additional factors enjoyed by Wisconsin breeders.

To Record Pedigrees

The bulletin emphasizes uniformity and persistency in breeding, of which there has been a general lack in this state as well as elsewhere where imported animals have been employed. In order to encourage pure breeding and to raise the standard of Wisconsin horses Dr. Alexander urges that all sound pure bred stallions and mares be duly recorded in the stud books of the particular breeds. In accordance with the new law passed by the last legislature the Department of Horse-Breeding of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin is authorized to issue certificates for all stallions used in breeding certifying that the animal is free from hereditary, transmissible, or communicable disease and setting forth the exact breeding of the animal, whether pure bred, grade, or cross grade. By the enforcement of this new act on and after January 1st, 1906, it will be possible for breeders to gain accurate and correct knowledge in regard to the animals used in breeding and it will be of great advantage to have the soundness and pedigree of stallions certified to by the College of Agriculture.

Local Associations Necessary

The importance of the formation of horse-breeding associations in townships and counties throughout the state is pointed out in the bulletin as an excellent means of securing the advancement of the industry. Such associations should be formed of breeders who possess the same class or breed of horses and who will pledge themselves by every legitimate means to further the interests of the association and of the breed handled. It would be the work of such an association to protect the interests of its members, provide suitable stallions each year for use upon the mares owned by the members, advertise stock, attract buyers, hold sales, make exhibits at the county, district and state fairs, hold meetings for discussion of horse-breeding matters and educate the farmers of the locality to better methods of breeding, feeding and development of marketable horses. Were such associations formed in each horse-breeding center throughout the state, and were each of them to preach and practice the same sound doctrines of breeding, the use of the "scrub," grade, cross-bred and unsound stallions would soon be a thing of the past, while better mares would be used for breeding purposes with the inevitable result of general improvement in the quality of Wisconsin horses and the consequent profits.

hours before he regained consciousness. He is not yet out of danger.

Roy Stephenson, a sophomore, was struck on the head with an iron pole and became delirious. Dr. Walter Sheldon says the prospects for his recovery are bad. The same doctor attended a student with a broken leg, but the latter's friends have succeeded in keeping the name secret. He is thought to be at one of the Greek letter fraternity houses.

The rush was carried to the greatest excess known here, and President Van Hise, who planned to restrain it and keep it within mild limits, is aggrieved. He has ordered an investigation of the serious injuries.

A committee of upper class men represented the president in the rush and made speeches praying for moderation.

Roosevelt Is Injured.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 7.—The first freshman to be laid out on Soldiers' field this year was Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. Two freshmen were playing football on Young Roosevelt was playing end on one of them. The play came toward him and he plunged into the scrimmage. When the pile was disentangled he was bleeding profusely from a cut over his eye. He was hustled off to the dressing room and the cut, not big enough to require stitching, was patched up with a cocoon.

Freshman Hurt at Michigan.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 9.—What may prove a fatal accident marked the annual rush of the freshmen and sophomores at the University of Michigan. Paul Grant, a student from Manitowish and one of the freshmen, was carried against an iron rail and injured internally. He is a pledged member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. At the society house the older members refused to say anything of the matter or to admit there had been an accident. Several other mishaps occurred, but none was serious. In one of the street mix-ups a policeman pulled a revolver, but several students grabbed his hand, held it aloft and told him to "shoot the stars." The incident passed off quietly.

Colonel Peters Declares Price Will Go No Higher.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 7.—Col. E. S. Peters, vice president of the Southern Cotton association, has issued a letter to farmers advising them to sell their cotton. This letter is expected to arouse criticism in the Southern Cotton association, as the officers of that organization, supported by the Farmers' union, have advised farmers to hold their cotton for 11 cents. Col. Peters says he believes that cotton will not go any higher and he predicts a big crop.

PUTS CHECK ON ARMY FRAUDS

Instructions to Officers Bar Modifications of Contracts Without Consent of the War Department.

Washington, Oct. 7.—As one outcome of the development of the Schuykill arsenal frauds Secretary Taft has issued a sweeping order of the greatest importance to every person interested in furnishing supplies to the war department. The purpose is to insure that government supplies shall be kept up to sample, that subcontracting shall be discouraged; that irresponsible bidders shall be excluded from competition and that honest and competent inspection shall be made at every stage in the process of manufacture of goods furnished the government.

Instructions for the guidance of officers charged with the purchase of supplies are embraced within the order and are issued, the order reads, with a view to a thorough enforcement of the laws which require all supplies to be purchased "where the same can be purchased the cheapest, quality and cost of transportation and the interests of the government considered," and that "such contracts will be made with the lowest responsible bidders."

The instructions also provide that contracts once executed cannot be modified, but if it is found for any reason the stipulations cannot be rigidly enforced the contract may be annulled with the approval of the secretary of war.

The instructions provide for the inspection of raw material and direct that all supplies furnished under contract will be subjected whenever practicable to the personal inspection of a commissioned officer at time of delivery, otherwise such inspections are to be made by civilian inspectors under his personal supervision, subject to test and verification at irregular intervals and at unexpected times by such officers.

Finally it is enjoined upon commissioned officers charged with such inspections and supervision of civilian inspectors to qualify themselves by study, observation and practice for such supervision as shall effectively protect the government interests.

STATE NOTES

At a meeting of the new Racine Board of Education last night, W. J. Harvey was elected president for the ensuing year.

The Chicago and Milwaukee railway is letting contracts for the erection of a power house to cost $500,000. It will be erected either at Kenosha or Waukegan.

After lying unconscious since Wednesday night, the unknown man who shot himself through the head at the Northwestern depot at Fond du Lac, died on Friday. The man was about 70 years old and had long, gray whiskers.

The meeting of the Wisconsin Baptist board closed at Appleton on Friday. The treasurer announced a deficit of $2,000, and it was decided that the executive committee be empowered to raise the money and clear the debt at once.

The examination of the accounts of Arthur Cole, the defaulting clerk of the court at Marinette, reveals a larger shortage than was supposed existed. It is now over $2,500. Seven of the Cole children have been adopted by respectable families.

Eight sacks filled with cigarette wrappers were received at the Racine postoffice on Friday. They came from a Chicago firm. In the sacks were hundreds of little envelopes containing seven books of wrappers and addressed to men and boys of the city.

Advance Discount Rate.

Berlin, October 7.—It is expected that the Imperial Bank of Germany, affected by the action of the Bank of England last week, will today advance the discount rate. Action, however, will probably be deferred until after the publication of the return for today. One favorable element in the situation is that much of the recent discounting at the Imperial Bank was upon short bills, and hence there is a prospect that the old situation will be rapidly recovered after the turn of the quarter. Although American balances here have been greatly increased of late owing to the purchases of American grain, cotton and railway securities in Germany, it is believed that these can be adjusted without withdrawing German gold for New York.
